

William G. Rohrer College of Business
Confidentiality and Participation Agreement

IN CONSIDERATION OF my being permitted to participate in a consulting project for the provision of advice and assistance to businesses and other organizations sponsored by Rowan University's William G. Rohrer College of Business, and thus receiving the increased education experience that will result from my participation, I agree as follows:

1. I agree that I will treat in strict and absolute confidence all information received by me from any business firm or person requesting assistance of the kind to be provided under this project. The only exception of this commitment will be other members of the Project Team and the faculty members of Rowan University who will supervise this project.
2. I agree that I will not recommend to any business firm or individual requesting assistance the purchase of goods or services from a source in which I or other members of the Project Team or the sponsors may be interested, nor will I accept fees, commissions, gratuities, or other benefits from any firm or individuals I or another member of the Project team may recommend to the business firm or individual so requesting assistance.
3. I certify that I am not now involved in a business that competes with my clients and will not be involve in such a business during the period immediately following the consultation.
4. I will maintain confidentiality of any client information permanently. I will never use or discuss any client information outside the classroom except with the client or engage in any direct competition with the client during or immediately following the consultation without client permission.
5. I agree that I will not accept any fees, commissions, gifts or gratuities from the client nor serve on their advisory board during the engagement. I agree to avoid any other appearance of conflict of interest.
6. I certify that neither myself nor any immediate family member have any interest in the ownership of the client's business.
